São Paulo, July 5, 2017 – SUZANO PAPEL E CELULOSE S.A. (“Company,” “Suzano”) (Bovespa: SUZB5) announces to its shareholders and the general market that it is undergoing an organizational restructuring to ensure that its new businesses have the structures needed to maximize profits.

Structural Competitiveness, Adjacent Businesses and Redesigning the Industry are the strategic pillars that guide and prioritize Suzano efforts. Over the past few months, we have finely tuned our vision for and understanding of each product and analyzed each production chain as a Business Unit. This integrated vision of our business will ensure greater granularity in the management of our chain and support customized adjustments of each product.

Therefore, to ensure the optimal structure for our core businesses (pulp and paper), the development of our people and the structure needed to support the growth we seek in our new businesses, we present the ten departments that will report directly to our Chief Executive Officer, Walter Schalka:

- Forestry Executive Department (Alexandre Chueri Neto)
- Pulp Executive Department (Carlos Aníbal)
- Paper Executive Department (Leonardo Grimaldi)
- Consumer Goods Executive Department (Fabio Prado)
- Innovation & New Business Executive Department (Renato Tyszler)
- Financial & Investor Relations Executive Department (Marcelo Bacci)
- People & Management Executive Department (Julia Fernandes)
- Corporate & Legal Affairs Department (Pablo Machado)
- Audit Department (Mariano Zavattiero)
- FuturaGene Department (Stanley Hirsch)

We believe that this new structure will enable Suzano to produce better products and offer better services to continually improve the solutions provided to its clients.
